Newsletter of Experimental Aircraft Association Chapter 84 at Harvey Field in Snohomish, WA

July, 2008

HAPPY SUMMER!

Hello, Everyone. Hope your summer is going great, now that we finally have some summer weather. It's great to be flying again and it's good to feel the sun again.

Well, since we last talked, there has been some bad news. You all know by now that Jim Davison had some bad luck on his second flight last month, and suffered the indignity of an unplanned landing near the Arlington airport. Jim was only slightly injured in his shoulders and had a few scratches and bruises, but the airplane had serious damage.

Jim was pronounced completely healed by his doctor yesterday and is currently involved in helping his son build a log cabin. He is also going to bring his damaged airplane to the Chapter 84 Workshop Tent at Arlington to show how a well constructed aircraft can protect a pilot when a crash is inevitable. This is a courageous act for Jim, but he's always thinking of helping other builders and pilots in any way he can, so he is generously going to be at the Flyin on Saturday to talk about his experience.

Speaking of the Arlington Flyin, remember the Chapter mans the Home Builder Workshop every day. Beginning on Thursday, July 10th, our members will be demonstrating their homebuilding skills and sharing the experience with all comers. Look for us between 9:00 AM and 3:00 PM Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, and from 9:00 AM to 1:00 PM on Sunday. Our lineup this year includes Jack Durringer working on his "Durringer 1", the airplane Jack is designing and building from scratch. Also, Ken Reyburn will be there working on his Sonex, and Nick Gentry will be working on his Volksplane. Other volunteers in the crew include Chum Shoemaker, Jim Morgan, Art Tuck, and Tom Mahon. By the way, Jack Durringer is looking for a 50% partner in his MiniMax, which will also be on display at the Workshop.

Be sure to stop by and lend your support to these dedicated volunteers.

UPCOMING EVENTS REMINDERS
